

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS TO THE RIVISTA

The RIVISTA DI SCIENZE PREISTORICHE, the annual journal of the Italian Institute of Prehistory and Protohistory (IIPP), publishes memoirs, notes and communications of elevated scientific content.

Any articles should be submitted to the editorial office of the journal (editoria@iipp.it) no later than 31 December of the year preceding the publication of the volume.

Contributions are accepted in Italian, English, French and German.

The text and illustrations can be submitted to the editorial office of the journal on a CD or using WeTransfer, or a similar method. A copy on paper is also always required.

In the case of several authors, the name of the corresponding author responsible for contacts with the editorial office should be indicated.

Any contributions that do not comply with the editorial guidelines, as regards either text or illustrations, will not be taken into consideration.

The journal adopts a peer review system and all contributions will be submitted to two external reviewers whose evaluations will be communicated to the author or corresponding author.

The publisher will forward the first and only proofs. Only corrections of typographic or page-up errors or small changes to the proofs will be accepted, unless the author agrees to cover the costs.

The maximum length of submissions is generally established as 35 printed pages, including text, abstracts, notes, bibliography and illustrations. However, exceptions to this rule may be taken into consideration by the editorial office or the editor of the journal.

A printed page corresponds to 4,800 characters (including spaces)

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY. The author or authors must declare at their own responsibility that the submitted contribution represents their own original academic production and that they are in possession of the necessary authorisations for the publication of the data and of any graphic or photographic material. For any illustrations or figures that do not belong to the author, the source must be given in the caption.

The author declares that any illustrations or figures included in the text are exempt from the payment of copyright, assuming full responsibility regarding any potential claim for compensation.

ONLINE CIRCULATION. The author or authors are requested to comply with a 12-month embargo period prior to sharing the published article in an archive freely accessible online. This rule permits the IIPP to pursue its activity of academic publishing without prejudice to the system of subscriptions and book sales essential to the continuation of this activity. The author or authors therefore undertake not to publish the article on online sharing and/or distribution portals – with the exception of the title, abstract and keywords – until one year after its publication.

TEXT. The text, in a Word file composed in Times New Roman font, font size 12 (except for the abstract, keywords, bibliography and captions which should be in font size 10) should be sent on a CD or using WeTransfer, or a similar method to editoria@iipp.it together with the figures.

The text should not be justified but aligned left, words should not be hyphenated and paragraphs should not be indented.

The full names of the author or authors should be in small capitals. The name of each author should be followed by a numbered reference in brackets referring to a personalised footnote indicating the institution/s of affiliation complete with respective address/es and e-mail/s. Where the author is not affiliated with any institution, his/her private address and e-mail should be indicated.

Title of the article in font size 14, uppercase/lowercase.

Abstract in English: this should be sufficiently detailed and not just a few lines.

ABSTRACT all uppercase, followed by dash (–) and then title of the article in small capitals. Text of the abstract in font size 10. Followed by keywords in Italian and English in font size 10.

The article can be divided into sections, each section should have a title in small capitals. Subdivisions within the sections should have titles in italics.

The footnotes, following those of the affiliations, should be numbered progressively.

The figure captions should be in Italian and in English. Figure numbers within the article should be progressive (indicated using Arabic numerals).

Frequently used abbreviations:

c. = circa
cf. = compare
e.g. = for example
fig. , figs. = figure, figures
ff. = fragments
h = height
l = length
Ø = diameter
max = maximum
mm, cm, m, km, g, kg
no., nos. = number, numbers
N, S, W, E, NW, NE etc.
n.d. = no date
n.p. = no place
op. cit. = work cited
pl., pls. = plate, plates
w = width

BIBLIOGRAPHIC REFERENCES

We would invite the scholars intending to collaborate with the RSP to reflect on the significance of bibliographic references. These references in the text and in the footnotes are intended to indicate where the ideas, facts, data and any other form of information and documentation used by the author are to be found. They should therefore put the reader in the position of being able to consult the same source used by the author and check the accuracy of the reference. The creation of a correct system of references, indicating when and by whom a hypothesis or theory was formulated for the first time, when and by whom a specific archaeological material was correctly published and to whom information used in the course of the work is to be attributed, ensures the academic validity of the study performed. Furthermore, it ensures the avoidance of plagiarism or “paraphrase”, a type of theft that is very widespread, perpetrated sometimes consciously and sometimes unwittingly. The system of bibliographic references reflects on the professional ethics of the author.

Footnotes are permitted. Bibliographic references should be inserted between brackets when they are not too long, otherwise it is preferable to put them in a footnote. Bibliographic references in the text or in footnotes – without brackets in footnotes – should indicate surname and year, followed by page numbers or figure references, as in the example below:

(Childe 1929, 25) oppure (Childe 1929, tav. XV)

In the case of several authors:

(Bernabò Brea, Cardarelli, Cremaschi 1997)

For more than three authors use the first author's surname followed by et al.

When citing several works by the same author:

(Cremaschi 1988 e 1997), (Cremaschi 1988, 215; Id. 1997)

References in the text to figures and tables should be in brackets: (fig. 5), (fig. 5.3), (table III).

VENTURINO GAMBARI M. (1998) – Il Neolitico e l'Eneolitico in Piemonte, in IIPP 1998, 33-64.

When the bibliography contains two or more contributions published in the same book, it is advisable to use an abbreviation for the book:

OROMBELLI G. (1997) – Le condizioni climatiche durante il II millennio a.C., in Terramare 1997, 51-55.

TERRAMARE 1997 – BERNABÒ BREA M., CARDARELLI A., CREMASCHI M., eds. – Le Terramare. La più antica civiltà padana, Milano: Electa.

When citing contributions by the same author published in the same year:

BIETTI SESTIERI A.M. (2006a)

BIETTI SESTIERI A.M. (2006b)

BIETTI SESTIERI A.M. (2006c)

For works currently being published:

BIETTI SESTIERI A.M. (in press)

For works in preparation:

BIETTI SESTIERI A.M. (in progress)

Ages, periods and phases of Prehistory and Protohistory should be cited as in the following examples:

Upper Palaeolithic

Middle Neolithic

Copper Age

Ancient Bronze Age or Early Bronze Age

Abbreviations used, such as EBA, MBA etc. for Early Bronze Age, Middle Bronze Age and so on, should be explained in a footnote: hereinafter EBA for Early Bronze Age etc.
